

In the student presentations during the 12th Annual Red Ribbon Week Ceremony with this year's theme "Underage Drinking-Not a Minor Problem!" in Council Chambers at Pawtucket City Hall in Pawtucket, RI on Friday morning, October 31, 2008, Jacqueline M. Walsh School for the Performing and Visual Arts freshmen Dmitri Khomenko, sitting far right, and Nicole Navarro simulate drinking and driving from a party, as freshman Wesley Rodas plays guitar and seniors Erika Sherry, standing far left, and Kelsey Usher, standing far right, sing the song "Teenage Tragedy" with their fellow classmates. Both the lyrics and the instrumentation for "Teenage Tragedy" were written by the students in the song writing class. The Jacqueline M. Walsh School received the first place High School Level trophy for their presentation. Butch Adams/The Times.
